

CLIMATE CHANGE

Video: Bill Gates Says It's OK For Him To Use Private Jets Because He's "The Solution" To Climate Change

Gates owns FOUR private jets at a combined cost of $194 million dollars

Published 1 hour ago on 8 February, 2023
Steve Watson

Screenshot

In a cringe inducing interview with a BBC reporter, Bill Gates argued that it's perfectly fine for him to fly around the world on private jets because he's doing much more than anyone else to combat climate change.

Gates claimed that because he continues to "spend billions of dollars" on climate change activism, his carbon footprint isn't an issue.

"Should I stay at home and not come to Kenya and learn about farming and malaria?" Gates said in the interview with Amol Rajan.

"I'm comfortable with the idea that not only am I not part of the problem by paying for the offsets, but also through the billions that my Breakthrough Energy Group is spending, that I'm part of the solution," Gates added.

Watch:

Comments

Most recently, Gates flew around Australia on board his $70 million dollar luxury private jet lecturing people about climate change.

Bill Gates Flies Around Australia on \$70 Million Dollar Private Jet Lecturing People About Climate Change

Gates, who has declared that the energy crisis is a good thing, owns no fewer than FOUR private jets at a combined cost of $194 million dollars.

A study carried out by Linnaeus University economics professor Stefan Gössling found that Gates flew more than 213,000 miles on 59 private jet flights in 2017 alone.

Gates emitted an estimated 1,760 tons of carbon dioxide emissions, over a hundred times more than the emissions per capita in the United States, according to data from the World Bank.

Elsewhere during the carefully constructed interview, Gates said he was surprised that he was targeted by 'conspiracy theorists' for pushing vaccines during the pandemic.

Gates again repeated a talking point about it being more important to mass vaccinate humanity than to travel to Mars.

While the BBC interview was set up to look like Gates was being challenged or grilled, he wasn't asked about being pally with deceased elitist pedophile Jeffrey Epstein.

Video: Bill Gates Again Acts Weird When Asked Directly About Relationship With Jeffrey Epstein

ALERT! In the age of mass Silicon Valley censorship It is crucial that we stay in touch.

We need you to sign up for our free newsletter here.

Support our sponsor – Turbo Force – a supercharged boost of clean energy without the comedown.

Also, we urgently need your financial support here.