Russia standing up to all of NATO has changed the world. Not only are the Russians winning handily on the battlefield, but the dollar is rubble and the ruble is not. Russia is winning the physical and economic war. This has emboldened other nations to step up, because they know the U.S. is a paper tiger.

Furthermore, the U.S. overplayed its hand, here, by issuing the most stringent sanctions in history, and stealing $300-billion in foreign held reserves. The whole world knows that if it can happen to Russia, it can happen to anyone. It's not just a problem for the Cubas, Venezuelas, North Koreas, and Irans of the world. The U.S. weaponized their status as reserve currency, and while doing so, destroyed it.

This is a whole new world that is changing daily. I'm glad I am alive when it happened. Of course, if the United States triggers a nuclear holocaust, I reserve the right to take that statement back. Nonetheless, the world is changing for the better, and globalism and WEF are in big trouble, and they know it. They messed up bad.
